To My Family,

Subject: An Urgent and Formal Statement on the Current Situation

This will be hard to hear, but I am committed to focusing on this situation.

It is profoundly concerning that I have had to deal with reporting these crimes myself. I am still waiting for the maternal side of the family to acknowledge this situation and take action, which means going through the Gardaí and a solicitor.

I don't wish ill will on anyone involved, but I cannot express enough how worrying and avoidable the risk is due to our family's inaction.

I am struggling to regain a basic level of safety and security, but this is compounded by the struggle of waiting for someone to intervene. If I have to convince you that this is extremely urgent and important, that in itself is a significant problem.

My safety, security, and privacy at home are being taken from me. This is not due to the apartment, the building, the landlord, or the management company. It is a direct result of ongoing, day-to-day remote audio harassment.

It is presumed that until this is acknowledged, the situation will remain at a dangerous stage. If no action is taken, it suggests a family system of abuse and control that enables and supports the perpetrators, specifically Cathal.

The entire family is jeopardising my life and that of others, as well as the safety and well-being of many.

I will not tolerate the perpetrators nor our respective families' inaction and will publicly raise awareness until no one can turn a blind eye to the impact beyond myself.

Sincerely,

Declan OSullivan
